

Discover Decodable Books with Little Blossom Stories

You know the moment. You see a young child, book open, eyes intent on the page. Suddenly, it's like a light bulb flicks on and you witness their discovery as they recognize the words, understand the content, and become empowered by their accomplishment. Cherry Blossom Press engages early readers and introduces the building blocks of literacy that help them become confident, lifelong readers. Decodable text and format is created by Cecilia Minden, Ph.D., a literacy consultant and former director of the Language and Literacy Program at Harvard Graduate School of Education.

The Little Blossom Stories series uses:

- + Curriculum-based fiction
- + Decodable text—a combination of sight words, letter patterns, and vowel sounds
- + Original illustrations to help guide readers through the text
- + A, B, and C reading levels

Level A books limit words to single syllable short vowel words with no blends and digraphs. Words not fitting this description are placed in sight words, and are generally limited to ones that are listed on the 100 most common words for beginning readers.

Level B books introduce multi-syllable words and feature blends and digraphs. The focus is for easy decoding using phonics sounds.

Level C bold books build off of lessons from earlier levels and feature more complex sentences. Syntax, meaning, and visual cues are used to help decode ambiguous vowel sounds.

- Emilee is excited. Aunt Dawn is on her way here.
- Aunt Dawn is her fun aunt. She wears gauze shawls and carries big straw bags.
- Last visit, Aunt Dawn taught Emilee how to make plum sauce.
- Emilee hears a car door slam. She runs out onto the lawn.
- "Aunt Dawn!" calls Emilee and gives her a big hug.
- Emilee hauls Aunt Dawn's straw bag into the house.
- Aunt Dawn shows Emilee a book she brought in her straw bag.
- "This visit, we are going to read this book and talk. Then, you will write a book! You will be an author!"
- Aunt Dawn lifts sketchbooks and pencils out of her straw bag.
- "I will teach you how to draw what happens in your book."
- "That sounds great!" said Emilee.
- And that is what they did.
